

Columbia Southern University

Learning Partnership with Columbia Southern University

Nevada Fire Chiefs Association and Columbia Southern University have formed a Learning Partnership which allows employees along with their spouses and children of Nevada Fire Chiefs Association to take advantage of CSU's low tuition rate, receive a 10% tuition discount and a free application process.

Columbia Southern University, a leader in online learning, offers a variety of online associate, bachelor, graduate and certificate programs. CSU specializes in a Bachelor of Fire Science Degree Program. The programs offered and information about these programs can be found at www.columbiasouthern.edu.

Nevada Fire Chiefs Association is listed on Columbia Southern's website as a Learning Partner and CSU has created a subsite for employees. This discount also applies to the employees' spouses and children. To take advantage of the 10% partner discount and the free application, employees should submit their Application for Admission and Enrollment at the following site. At this site you will find additional information concerning CSU programs and enrolling at CSU.

http://www.columbiasouthern.edu/alliances/partners/default.aspx?corpid=nvfirechiefsassoc_nv

Columbia Southern University is accredited by the Distance Education and Training Council (DETC). The DETC (www.detc.org) is an accrediting association recognized by the U.S. Department of Education and the Council on Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). Columbia Southern University is approved for Veterans' Educational Benefits.

If you have further questions, please contact the admissions department at admissions@columbiasouthern.edu or 800-977-8449.